Power On: Investing in a stronger, smarter grid

We are working to enhance our grid's resiliency — ensuring that it can withstand the impacts of more frequent and intense storms.

We recently announced a new project in New Vineyard, where we are replacing aging equipment on a three and a half mile stretch of the distribution line. The majority of the poles and conductors being replaced are located in an area with limited road accessibility.

In addition to equipment upgrades, we are installing stronger poles and covered tree wire roadside for easy access.

Partnering with local schools to plant trees

In honor of Maine Arbor Week this past spring, we partnered with schools across our service area to donate tree seedlings, electrical safety coloring books, CMP "Trees are Good" coloring books and Forest Trees of Maine books.

"Maine is known for its picturesque landscape and as a Mainer myself, I take deep pride in maintaining our state's natural beauty," said Joe Purington, president and CEO of CMP. "I hope this partnership with local schools instills that same sense of pride in future generations of Mainers."

"I've had a passion for the environment from a young age," said Katie Manende, CMP's Manager of Vegetation Management and Maine Licensed Forester and Arborist. "This is an exciting partnership and a great way to get kids involved in maintaining the natural beauty of Maine! It is an honor to carry on CMP's long-standing tradition of tree and environmental education in schools throughout the service territory."
